

Maitland, FL – April 8, 2015

Genesis Water Technologies, Inc announces Water Scarcity...Challenges corporate video

Genesis Water Technologies, Inc. a USA based global leader of innovative and sustainable water treatment solutions for drinking water, process water, and waste water applications is proud to introduce its new corporate video focusing around the global water scarcity challenges that we face today.

The water scarcity video was just recently introduced last week via limited release and is now available for global viewing in the English language on the Genesis Water Technologies home page (www.genesiswatertech.com). The video will be available in a Spanish language version with other local language versions to be introduced based on feedback gathered from local partners worldwide as required.

The new video discusses the impact that global water scarcity challenges have upon the availability of clean water resources across the world; and how GWT is meeting these challenges with sustainable customized solutions in collaboration with its local partners and clients.

This video showcases Genesis Water Technologies as a leader of advanced sustainable water & waste water reuse solutions poised to adapt and partner with communities and industries to meet the water scarcity challenges they face now and into the future.

The newly created video demonstrates both the vision and value of working with GWT and will be a key driver for mutual continued success in 2015 and beyond.

“Genesis Water Technologies, Innovation in Water.”

About Genesis Water Technologies, Inc.

Genesis Water Technologies, Inc. is a dynamic USA manufacturer and supplier of innovative and sustainable integrated water treatment solutions for process water, drinking water, water reuse and waste water. Our company mission is focused on using innovation to meet the water needs of the world. Our sustainable water treatment solutions serve commercial, industrial and municipal clients worldwide. Genesis Water Technologies is dedicated to listening and responding to our clients and serving as their water treatment partners now and for many years to come.

For more details about Genesis Water Technologies, Inc. and our water treatment solutions visit our company website at Genesiswatertech.com for more information.